Forecast For Strathclyde
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Thursday 30 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers initially across north. Otherwise dry, increasingly bright. Seasonally mild.

Today:
Showers during the morning, mainly confined to Argyll. Otherwise largely dry with bright and sunny spells increasing. Seasonally mild with double figure maximums. West to southwest breezes. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud soon thickening from the south with a band of occasionally heavy rain extending northwards to reach the Central Belt around midnight, and all come dawn. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Friday:
Overcast and wet initially. Turning drier late morning, with brighter spells appearing in Argyll. But continuing rather cloudy from Central Belt southwards, with some patchy light rain or drizzle. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Saturday mild, but not feeling so in brisk winds that bring showers or longer periods of rain. Sunshine, showers for Sunday. Rain then showers Monday, these perhaps wintry in north.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.